Surface Preparation

All surfaces must be clean, dry and free of wax, grease, dust and other contaminants. The presence of such contaminants contributes to conditions such as 'rejection' or 'delamination'.

Sand the surface with coarse sandpaper initially. All nail-holes and cracks should be filled with putty, then fine sand the floor, finishing with 100grit sand paper, then as with other water-based products, it is advisable to close the grain with a 150-mesh screenback.

Vacuum thoroughly with a commercial grade vacuum cleaner. Use a filter with a minimum screening capacity for capturing dust particles of 1 micron.

It is prudent to measure the moisture level of a floor prior to coating to ensure the timber has stabilised.

Notes

RECOATING - As is the case for new floors, the surface must be free of dust, wax, grease and other contaminants. If in doubt check adhesion on a test patch. Wash the floor with Toby Polyclean as per manufacturer's instructions. Sand with a 100-grit screen. Vacuum thoroughly and tack clean with damp towels. Apply one coat of Toby Aquamax Domestic Timber Floor Finish as per above procedure.
